

JOY W. HUNTINGTON, PHD

EDUCATION

2020 UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – MADISON, WI
Ph.D. Human Ecology, Design Studies
Minor Art History, Certificate in Material Culture
Dissertation: Historic Analysis of Madison's Urban Landscape: how women influenced the development of a city

2011 CHATHAM UNIVERSITY – PITTSBURGH, PA
M.A. Interior Architecture
Thesis: The Revitalization of a Neighborhood Through the Reuse and Restoration of a Building

2001 UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN – ANN ARBOR, MI
B.A. English

RESEARCH HISTORY

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY
2023 - Present
Robbins College of Health and Human Sciences
Interior Design
Assistant Research Scientist

AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES (ACLS)
2021 - 2022
Leading Edge Fellow
Historic Germantown – A Souvenir of Germantown

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – MADISON, WI
2016
School of Human Ecology, Design Studies
Project Assistant
History Timeline of the School of Human Ecology

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – MADISON, WI
2014
School of Human Ecology, Design Studies
Research Assistant - Associate Professor Jung-hye Shin
Green School Buildings

TEACHING

BAYLOR UNIVERSITY – WACO, TX
2023 -
Robbins College of Health and Human Sciences
Interior Design
Assistant Research Scientist
Interior Design Graphics I

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – MADISON, WI

2020 - 2023

School of Human Ecology, Design Studies

Associate Lecturer

Visual Communication and Thinking for Interior Architecture

Design Fundamentals 2D Design

Introduction to Interior Architecture

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – STEVENS, POINT, STEVENS POINT, WI

2020 - 2022

School of Design and Communication

Associate Lecturer

Architectural History Non-European Influences

Survey of Creative Expression, US Diversity, Identity, and Material Culture

Advanced History and Theory of Architectural Design and Decorative Arts

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – MADISON, WI

Spring 2020

School of Human Ecology, Design Studies

Graduate Lecturer

Design Fundamentals 2D Design

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN – MADISON, WI

2013-2019

School of Human Ecology, Design Studies

Art History

Teaching Assistant

Introduction to Interior Architecture

The Body, Health, and Sex in Art

Design Fundamentals 2D Design

VOLUNTEER WORK

2018 - 2020

Historic Preservation Plan Advisory Committee, Madison, WI Appointed to the committee by Mayor to help construct a new preservation plan to include underrepresented populations and cultural significant landscapes to propose to the Madison's Landmarks City Commission.

2016

Department of Architecture, University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee

Buildings, Landscapes, and Culture Summer Field School, Sherman Park

CONFERENCES

Bailey, H; Huntington, J; Esswein, C; Davidson, R. (2020) Racial Equity & Social Justice in Preservation Planning: Developing the City of Madison's Historic Preservation Plan. Research presented at the Upper Midwest American Planning Association Annual Conference, virtual.

Huntington, J. (2018) Redlining in the Madison Urban Landscape: How Women Influenced the Development of a City. Research presented at the Vernacular Architecture Forum Annual Conference, Potomac, MD.

Shin, J; Huntington, J. (2015) Are we achieving our goals with green school buildings?: Comfort, mental health, and the pro-environmental awareness of 5th graders in green and non-green buildings. Research presented at the Interior Design Educators Council Annual Conference.

Shin, J; Huntington, J. (2015) Morphology, Indoor Environmental Quality, and Pro-Environmental Attitude in LEED Certified vs. Non-LEED Certified Buildings in the Midwest. Green schools as a platform for students' health and teaching environmental stewardship: Cross-case analysis of LEED and non-LEED elementary schools in the Midwest. Research Presented at the 46th Environmental Design Research Association Annual Conference, Los Angeles, CA.

Huntington, J. (2015) Morphology, Indoor Environmental Quality, and Pro-Environmental Attitude in LEED Certified vs. Non-LEED Certified Buildings in the Midwest. Poster Presented at the University of Wisconsin - Madison, School of Human Ecology STAR Award Recipients, Madison, WI.
